West Gains In Poll

St. Paul and Loara continue to hold down the top spots on the weekly prep football polls. After a 45-7 whitewashing of Servite, St. Paul leads the "AAAA" group. Angelus League foe Bishop Amat held on to second place.

The "AAAA" poll underwent little juggling, as Anaheim fell from fifth to sixth, West Torrance moved up from seventh to fifth, and Santa Barbara dropped one spot, from sixth to seventh. El Rancho, which notched its second straight Moore League triumph, over Long Beach Wilson, jumped into eighth spot, with Arroyo and newcomer West Covina rounding out the list.

On the "AAA" poll Loara's Saxons continued as the No. 1 team, despite a stiff challenge from Rolling Hills, which beat Morningside, 41-21.

Fullerton, which held second place position, dropped to third, and Claremont advanced to fourth, edging out Laguna Beach.

South Pasadena, which scored a 28-12 victory over La Canada, fell from fourth to seventh, and San Marino advanced from eighth to sixth.

Bishop Montgomery and St. John Bosco jumped back into the "Top Ten" elite in the eighth and ninth positions. Azusa debuted in 10th place.

Key encounters on the docket this weekend include the Sunset League battles between Westminster and Santa Ana, and Anaheim and Newport Harbor, on the "AAAA" level.
